NATURE'S Collection

Last spring Dinoflex was proud to launch Nature's Collection; a product line offering a combination of recycled rubber and sustainably harvested cork. The rubber elements give you high traction, underfoot comfort and performance. The cork provides tones and colors which add natural beauty, and insulation. Since the launch of Nature's Collection, many designers and suppliers have given rave reviews about the unique design elements this product brings to any home, office or commercial space.

NEXT STEP™ HIGH IMPACT EXTREME

Launched this winter, Next Step High Impact Extreme offers the toughest durability and strength for the most intense applications. With heavy weights and repeated trauma in mind, this flooring was specially engineered with a thick, dense backing to be able to withstand extreme levels of force on a daily basis. With over 100 colors to choose from you can tailor any gym or fitness studio to your particular tastes with this high-performance surface.

Company News

At Dinoflex we believe in creating customers for life and it is our employee's who deliver on that belief through their commitment and positive attitudes towards our business partners. One of our long-term employees, Craig Robinson is retiring this December. Craig has been a part of the Dinoflex family since 2008 and has contributed greatly to the success of our customer satisfaction. We wish Craig all the best in his well-deserved retirement.

We are pleased to announce the return of one of our Client Service Representatives, Teri Hughes. With previous experience at Dinoflex, Teri has extensive knowledge of our products and a high level of experience with client services. She looks forward to assisting you with any inquiries you may have.

Wishing you all the best in the New Year
